

Glass in Flight

with Alex Heveri

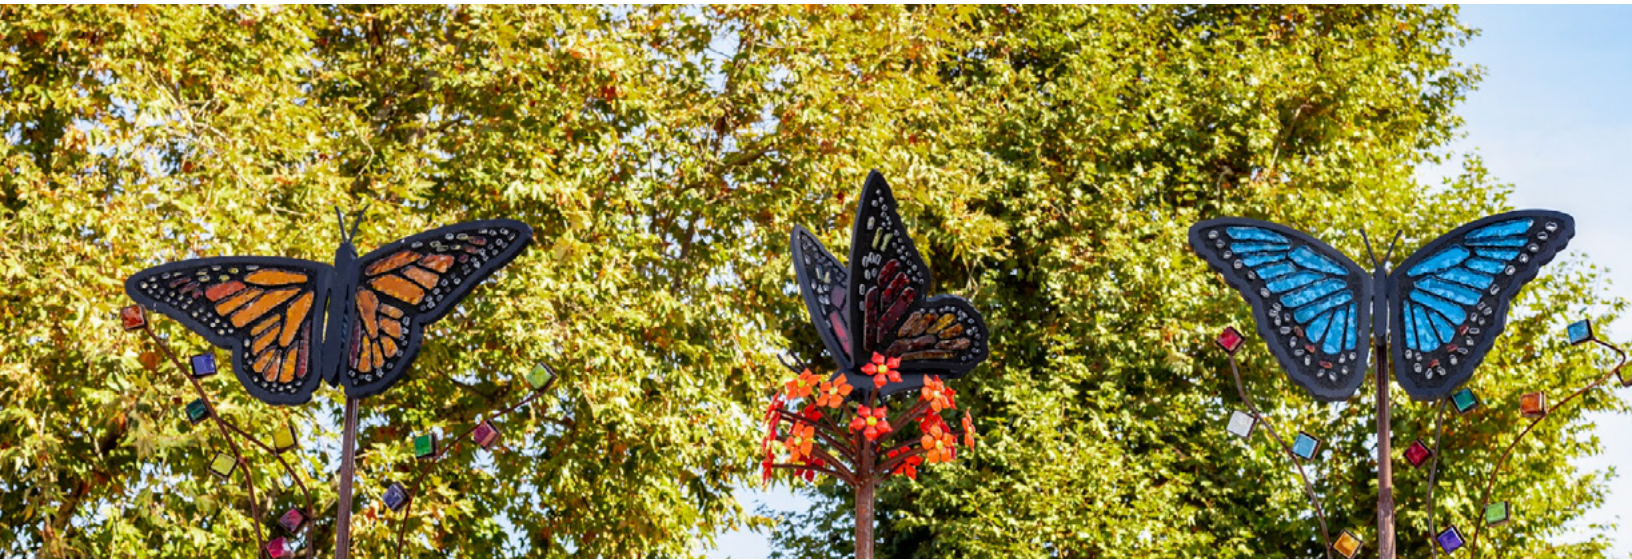

Alex Heveri is a Tucson-based artist, defense attorney and sculptor who has been creating larger than life steel and glass structures for more than 25 years.

Her Glass in Flight exhibits represent more than 4 years of solo work. The massive Dalle de Verre glass and steel sculptures of life-like bees, butterflies, birds, beetles, and dragonflies, some towering 12 feet high, together weigh more than 50,000 pounds. The sparkling, realistic sculptures were all conceived, designed, cut, assembled, and welded together by Alex herself.

Alex and her artworks have been featured in multiple magazines and videos. She has won numerous art competitions, awards and public art commissions, and her work appears in galleries, public venues, and private collections around America.
